

BRIAN O'NEILL

Brian O'Neill has more than 40 years of experience as a venture capital and real estate investor. Mr. O'Neill is the Founder and CEO of MLP Ventures, a leading venture capital and real estate investment firm. MLP Ventures creates companies in real estate, internet-based marketplaces, human capital management, life sciences and healthcare. MLP Ventures focuses on platform companies in high demand, supply constrained products and services with high growth potential. All MLP Ventures investments are driven by a higher purpose.

Mr. O'Neill founded Recovery Centers of America (RCA), a leading national network of neighborhood-based drug and alcohol treatment facilities, the first nationally branded in-network addiction rehabilitation services provider. He is also the Founder and Chairman of The Discovery Labs, a platform company offering advanced biomanufacturing and R&D facilities for academic institutions, pharmaceuticals, and biotech companies, providing state-of-the-art laboratories and services for companies at every stage of development. Mr. O'Neill founded The Center for Breakthrough Medicines (CBM), a cell and gene therapy contract development and manufacturing organization, offering comprehensive services to accelerate the development and commercialization of advanced therapies. Mr. O'Neill co-founded DāSTOR, a company specializing in enterprise data center solutions that provide scalable, reliable data storage and private cloud services through foundational infrastructure and interconnectivity.

Mr. O'Neill was part of the group of business leaders that founded Faith in the Future, an organization that saved the Archdiocese of Philadelphia high schools that were struggling due to declining enrollment. The Archdiocese transferred the management of 17 high schools and 4 schools of special education to Faith in the Future, a new nonprofit that is independent of the Archdiocese. Recently, after stabilizing the schools, Faith in the Future was transferred back to the Archdiocese.
